Principal's Ponderings

The start to the 2018 school year has been very smooth which is testament to the work of the school staff, the cooperation and assistance of parents and the positive attitude of students as they begin their studies. Thank you to all three sectors of our school.

Just a brief reminder, that if there are issues concerning the classroom education of your child, please approach their teacher first to discuss the matter fully. Often a positive and focused conversation will see a solution to resolve the issue. If not completely satisfied after the initial conversation, please make an appointment to meet with a senior leader. Their expectation will be that the first step has taken place.

Finally, a gentle reminder for parents and students to read the uniform policy, especially the area around accessories as there are still too many students not complying.

Have a great year at Seaford Rise.

Andrew Messenger.

I Suite gathering

Student Wellbeing Leader.

I am looking forward to my role here at Seaford Rise. I have been a teacher for the last 25 years and in the Role of Student Wellbeing Leader for the past 9.

I have worked in regional schools, distance education and here in the southern suburbs, with the most recent being in Murray Bridge for the past 4 years.

My role of Student Wellbeing leader means that I work with all areas of the school community. I work in the following way:

Whole school Policy development

- Families and parents
- Students individually and in groups working on developing Social and Emotional skills
- Student engagement and attendance
- With teachers – I work alongside and in developing social and emotional class programs and strategies to support all students' engagement in their learning.
- Liaise with community and DECD support agencies to support students and families.

I see my role as a partner and resource person to support all students in their engagement in learning.

I am available for students and parents to speak with me if there are issues that you know may affect your child's learning at school. Please either call me or send me an email.

Hi my name is Louise Jaensch and I have joined the Seaford Rise school community this year as the Special Education Coordinator. I am passionate about building genuine relationships with children, their families and staff to ensure all children can access the curriculum and school life in meaningful ways, at their level. The SSO team and I have set up a new space for Intervention and Support in Room 1 of I suite. We are really excited about the space as we have a large area in which we can run intervention programs, a small room for Speech and Language programs and a sensory room. We hope children will find the space a calm, safe and inviting place to focus on their learning whether their learning goals are for literacy, oral language, social skills or emotional regulation or a combination of these.

Keep an eye out in future newsletters for more detail on the various programs, activities and class support we will be implementing this year.

If you have concerns about your child's learning, please make a time to speak to your child's teacher in the first instance. I will endeavor to make contact with families who have a child with an NEP during the term but it will possibly be later in the term. Although, feel free to contact me through the front office though, if you need to meet before I have caught up with you.

I have worked in the Special Education field for more than 10 years, mostly in mainstream schools and have lots of experience with literacy and language interventions; with children with complex needs including children on the Autism Spectrum and with intellectual disabilities. Earlier in my career I worked in Aboriginal Education, with EALD learners and in curriculum development.

I love being part of a school community so I'm looking forward to getting to know many of you and your children over the coming years.
